Part I

Reply to the issues raised in paragraph 1 of the list of issues (CRC/C/KHM/Q/2-3)

1. The Royal Government of Cambodia (RGC) has the Cambodia National Council for Children (CNCC) as to assist in the monitoring of children's right fulfilment. The General Secretariat of CNCC has a technical unit called "Child Protection and Monitoring Unit" whose roles and responsibilities are to monitor, to evaluate and to report on the implementation of the national policies and programmes and international legal instruments related to children, especially the Convention on the Rights of the Child.

2. The Cambodian Human Rights Committee monitors the human rights fulfilment in general, including children's rights fulfilment.

The RGC has agreed in principle to establish an independent Human Rights Committee to monitor the human rights fulfilment in the Kingdom of Cambodia.

3. The RGC issued the Sub-Decree No. 122 dated 7 August 2009 on the Establishment of a National Mechanism to Prevent Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman Treatment or Punishment to ensure the respect for the basic rights of people deprived of liberty in detention centres. The Ministry of Justice issued the Prakas No. 58/06 dated 9 October 2006 on the Establishment of a Child Justice Working Group with members from 5 ministries, to develop a child-friendly justice system and to draft law and relevant regulations related to child justice.

4. In June 2008, the Council for Legal and Judicial Reform agreed on a project to initiate and develop the conceptual frameworks for the establishment of an Ombudsman in the Kingdom of Cambodia.

Reply to the issues raised in paragraph 2 of the list of issues

5. The RGC always considers the civil society as a main partner among the three partners, i.e. civil society, private sector and development partners. Many national and international NGOs are actively and thoughtfully implementing their roles in their efforts to develop the society and the economy as well as to enhance human rights, especially to implement the Convention. Government entities with NGO participation in the implementation of the Convention, include but not limited to:

- Six Working Groups of the National Committee to Lead the Suppression of Human Trafficking, Smuggling, Labor Exploitation and Sexual Exploitation in Women and Children;
- Working Group on Reintegration and Follow Up Activities;
- National Multi-Sectoral Orphans and Vulnerable Children Task Force (NOVCTF);
- Child Labor Working Group (CLWG);
- Disability Action Councils; and
- CNCC sub-committees and working groups.

6. In the area of child protection, civil society plays an important role to provide care and protection to vulnerable children and their families. 290 NGOs are listed in a MoSVY's service directory for vulnerable people published in 2010.
7. NGOs are represented and contribute at high cooperation and consultation forums as well as in a number of legal consultations such as:
 - The GO-NGO Working Group on Child Justice,
 - The Working Group on the Convention on the Right of the Child Optional Protocols reporting,
 - The Cambodia Development Cooperation Forum (CDCF), and
 - The Consultations on the draft Law on Association and NGOs and the draft Law on Juvenile Justice.
8. The Convention on the Rights of the Child has been effectively implemented with participation of the three partners as well as families and communities. There are many achievements as shown in the combined second and third periodic reports that was submitted and in this reply to the list of issues.
9. According to the draft Law on Association and NGOs that was submitted to the consultation held on 10 January 2011, this law aims at giving opportunities to associations and NGOs (local and international NGOs) to participate with the RGC in the implementation of projects and programmes on the development of Cambodian society as well as on the implementation of the Convention. This law does not limit the participation of local and international NGOs in the implementation of any international conventions that Cambodia has ratified, especially the Convention.

Reply to the issues raised in paragraph 3 of the list of issues

10. The RGC, development partners and civil society have been striving to reduce the disparities that exist between children living in urban and rural areas, and have got proud results. However, there remain economic gaps among them.
11. The National Strategic Development Plan (NSDP), updated 2009-2013 has raised some key policy priorities for children. For details, please see annex 2. Related to the strengthening of the education quality, the RGC has achieved satisfactorily progresses in implementing the National Plan on "Education for All" by ensuring equitable 9-year basic education for all children. Main achievements include increased number of schools construction, of teachers, and of enrolment in all levels of general education, especially in rural areas. There are Lower Secondary Schools in almost all Communes-Sangkats nationwide. Besides this the RGC has increased the national budget allocated to the education sector. The RGC will continue to implement the Strategic Plan for the Education with focus on giving equal opportunity to all children and youth in receiving formal and informal basic education, without any discrimination as to race, colour, sex, language, belief, religion, political tendency, birth or social status.
12. Related to the health sector, the RGC has paid attention to the improvement of general public welfare, especially for the poor, women and children. The implementation of the "Minimum Action Package" has good progresses. The RGC will continue to urge the implementation of the Strategic Plan for Health Sector in view to reduce mother and child mortality and improve other important health indicators through the quality strengthening and the expansion of health services, especially reproductive health, mother health, and new-born and child health. One target in this health improvement is the promotion of mother and child nutrition. The RGC has focused on:

- The implementation of prevention and treatment of contagious diseases, the construction of referral hospitals and health centres nationwide so as to provide basic health services effectively, sustainably, equitably and with increased professional quality;
- The increase of incentives to health staff in rural areas, and increase number of doctors, physicians and nurses;
- Widely conducting education and dissemination of health information on sanitation especially in rural areas;
- The provision of health service to the poor through the establishment of equity funds and health security system.

13. Besides these the RGC has increased a lot the budget to the health sector. The National Council on Nutrition led by the Ministry of Planning, in collaboration with relevant ministries, International Organizations (IOs), NGOs and the private sector, is urging the implementation of the Action Plan on Inclusion of Micronutrients in Nutrition 2011 in the aims of eliminating micronutrient deficiency, and to continue expanding the dissemination of the Sub-Decree related to iodine salt. The RGC issued Sub-decree No. 52 of 28 May 2010 to determine 13 November as National Day for Promotion of Rural Hygiene. All these activities have contributed significantly to the enhancement of women and children nutrition status, especially those in the rural areas.

14. The RGC has been constructing infrastructures, transportation and communication, roads, bridges, small roads in rural areas alleviating the travel of citizens and clean water wells in order to contribute to the reduction of poverty.

15. The RGC adopted the National Policy on the Development of Indigenous Groups in April 2009 in order to:

- Raise living standards of the indigenous groups,
- Ensure that they receive education for at least 9-year and life skills training,
- Improve their health, and
- Protect and maintain their culture.

16. There are a number of initiatives to build child protection systems in Cambodia. Under the leadership of the MoSVY with support from UNICEF, child protection networks were established in 4 provinces. Commune level support has been increased during the process of decentralization and deconcentration as the roles and responsibilities in terms of child care and protection are assigned to that level. For example, Save the Children has supported commune councils for its capacity building. World Vision has also provided support at village level to establish village funds for vulnerable children and their families to be cared and protected. Promotion of community and family based care was advanced by a number of organizations, like Friends International, Mith Samlanh and World Vision. A draft Prakas on Procedures to implement the Policy on Alternative Care is expected to build a child welfare system by defining roles and responsibilities at all levels and providing clear guidance to placement of children based on their best interest. Capacity building of the government social workers as well as NGO social workers was also an area of great support by development partners like UNICEF, Trans-Psychosocial Organization (TPO), Social Service of Cambodia, The Asian Development Bank (ADB) and other NGOs so that they would be equipped with knowledge and skills to handle social and child welfare issues.

17. An establishment of Women and Children Consultative Committee (WCCC) and Commune Committee for Women and Children (CCWC) is a major step for the RGC to enhance child protection systems at provincial, district and commune/Sangkat levels. Since the MoSVY does not have structure and functions at commune level, the CCWC is particularly important to perform duties as a social worker who could identify, assess, immediate services, monitor the situation of women and children and follow up cases if possible. The draft Prakas on Procedures to implement the Policy on Alternative Care for Children also stipulates the WCCC and CCWC roles and responsibilities in this regard.

18. A National Social Protection Strategy for the Poor and Vulnerable (NSPS) has been issued in order to respond to the need to accelerate progress towards the Cambodian Millennium Development Goals (CMDGs). It prioritizes the development of effective and sustainable social safety nets targeted to the poor and vulnerable, with complementary social welfare services for special vulnerable groups including children. National Plan of Action for the Orphan and Vulnerable Children 2008–2010 was developed in June 2008 by MoSVY to provide a framework for coordinated approach and services for Orphans and Vulnerable Children (OVCs). It has been reviewed for extension till 2015. The National Strategic Plan for a Comprehensive and Multi-sectoral Response to HIV and AIDS 2010 to 2015 (NSP III) was developed entailing strategy for HIV prevention among young people and impact mitigation with OVCs which are aligned to the CMDG.

20. Measures taken to eliminate traditional and stereotypical attitudes which may contribute to the discrimination of girls and gender-based violence include:
 - (a) The establishment of working groups/network from national to village levels to educate and disseminate as below:
 - (i) Parents and Family Education Program: to urge parents to take care and to educate their children, and to send the latter to school regardless they are boys or girls. In 2009 this programme has been replicated in five other targeted Capital and provinces, i.e. Battambang, Kompong Cham, Prey Veng, Svay Rieng and Phnom Penh Capital.
 - (b) Measures taken to eliminate traditional and stereotypical attitudes which may contribute to the gender-based violence include:
 - (i) Streamlining the principle of gender equity in all gargets including citizens, ministries, institutions, Capital/provincial departments, Commune and Sangkat councils, and NGOs by streamlining gender in local policies and development programmes through the increase of women membership in decision and policy making positions;
 - (ii) Dissemination of non-violence culture and elimination of discrimination against women through, among other things, forums, radios and TV;
 - (iii) Adoption of the Law on the Prevention of Domestic Violence and Protection of Victims;
 - (iv) Provision of services such as legal, health and psycho-social services to victims.

The RGC, especially the Ministry of Health itself, and the development partners committed and invested in the health sector to reach the Millennium Development Goals 4, 5, and 6 (to reduce the child mortality and the maternal mortality and HIV/AIDS-Malaria and other communicable diseases respectively).

46. The under-five mortality declined from 124 per 1,000 live births in 2000 to 83 per 1,000 live births in 2005 and to 54 in 2010. The infant mortality rate has decreased from 95 in 2000 to 66 in 2005 and 45 in 2010 respectively.

Reproductive and new-born health

49. To better coordinate, the Program set up a Sub Technical Working Group for Maternal and Child Health embedded in the NMCH Centre and has partnership with 13 United Nations Agencies, International Aid agencies and NGOs. The programme covers key activities including the antenatal care (ANC), delivery, and post-partum care (PNC) and care for the new born. The staff from sub-national level was trained in the essential skills. The programme is linked with from national level down to the grassroots level, i.e. the health centres. The programme also reaches the community as well.

50. It is also responsible for developing the policy and the national strategies, the principles and guidelines, training of trainers (ToT), planning and estimation of the resources needed for the programme, support the sub-national level, monitoring and evaluation, and supervision.

trained in training of trainers (ToT) covering the aspects of the birth spacing (implant & IDU), PNC, Emergency Obstetric and Newborn Care (EmONC), manual of Vacuum Extractor and CBD. Other activities included the review and update the training materials and publication and distribution of the materials.

The strategy covers three components: (a) Improving the skills of the health workers, (b) Improving the health system support, and (c) Improve the community and family practices. It has been so far scaled up to almost all the health centres with at least two staff trained in the clinical trainings. In 2010, the proportion of children under one year old receiving DPT-Hep3 and measles is over 90 per cent. The quality of care for the children at the hospitals was also prioritized. The health staff working at the outpatient department, and the paediatric ward were trained the paediatric nursing care and essential paediatric care to better manage the sick admitted children.

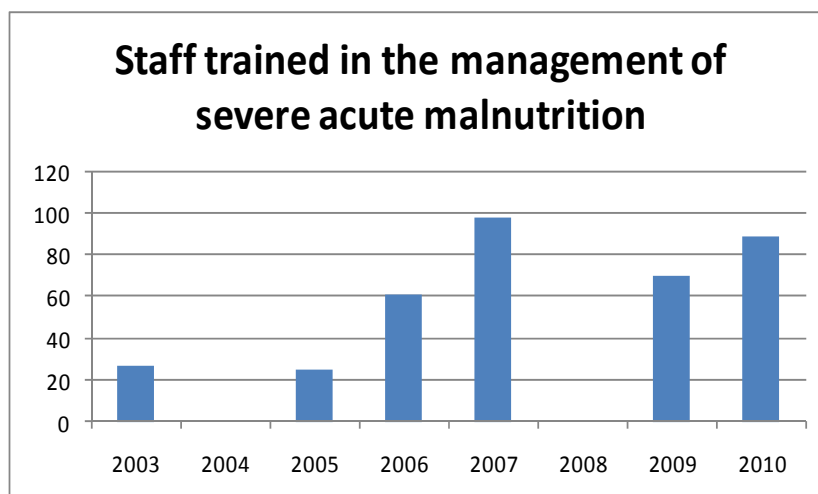

Malnutrition

54. The National Nutrition Program (NNP) is embedded at the National Centre for Maternal and Child Health (MNCHC). A great number of partners support the NNP in their annual operational plan (AOP) in which around two million dollars is awarded to the programme to run the activities in 2011 at both national and sub-national levels. The acute malnutrition is one of the key activities of the NP for 2010. The NNP achieved in carrying out the following tasks:

57. At the Ministry of Health, the National Centre for HIV/AIDS, Dermatology, and Sexually Transmitted Diseases (NCHADS) is the main coordinator of the HIV/AIDS prevention and control activities. It works with the National Centre for Tuberculosis and Leprosies Control to deal with the HIV/AIDS and Tuberculosis, and with the National Centre for Maternal and Child Health (NMCH) on the link response (prevention from mother to child transmission “PMTCT” and voluntary counselling and confidential testing “VCCT”). There are actually no separated piece of work focusing on the HIV/AIDS prevention and control in children.

58. The national centre has its own vertical network from the national to provincial, district, health centres and community to implement the HIV/AIDS prevention and control in collaboration with development partners. The national strategic plan for HIV/AIDS prevention and control was developed for 2008-2015 with its two main goals – (a) to reduce the HIV prevalence from 0.9 per cent to 0.6 per cent and (b) the survival of the HIV/AIDS patients of more than 85 per cent.

59. The hard work and investment in HIV/AIDS prevention and control resulted in tremendous achievements. One of which is the reduction of the HIV prevalence in the population. The HIV prevalence among the people aged from 15 up to 49 years olds has declined gradually from 2 per cent in 1998 to 0.9 per cent in 2006 and then 0.7 per cent in 2010.

60. The health facilities with VCCT increased from 12 in 2000 to 239 in 2010 (quarter 3). Up to quarter 3 of the year 2010, 387,575 people came to receive the services. VCCT, TB patients, pregnant women and her partners shared 68 per cent, 4 per cent, 29 per cent, and 6 per cent, respectively.

62. The treatment of the HIV/AIDS patients for the opportunistic infections (OIs) and with anti-retrovirals (ARVs) is one of the priority activities of the NCHADS. In 2010, 51 operational districts and 21 provinces are able to manage the HIV/AIDS patients with OIs and provide ARVs respectively. 32 operational districts out of those operational districts are upgraded to provide HIV/AIDS care in children. Up to quarter 3 of the year 2011, 41,669 patients received ARVs in which around 10 per cent are children.

63. In 21 provinces, there are 262,421 patients for VCCT, 15,052 TB patients, 41,669 patients for treatment for HIV/AIDS with the ARVs of which 4,003 are children. There are more than 100 physicians trained in a 6-months programme called diploma in clinical management training course on HIV/AIDS for children and other short, modified courses.

64. As of December 2010, 921 health facilities including three National Hospitals, 74 Referral Hospitals, 84 health centres, and 17 non-government health facilities implement the PMTCT services. Health facilities that run the PMTCT services have at least two health care providers from health centres and at least one physician trained on pre-and post-counselling for HIV. Managers from HCs, RHs, ODs, and Provincial management levels were trained on PMTCT management.

65. The Ministry of Education, Youth and Sports (MoEYS) has developed the “Cambodian National Policy on Youth Development” aiming at developing youth in their physic, intellectual, moral, value and life skills so as they become good citizens. This policy is now submitted to the Office of the Council of Ministers for approval.

66. The RGC has been drafting the Law on Drug Control. A new draft Law on drug control has included provisions related to treatment and rehabilitation. The draft Law on Tobacco Control is also under revision.

67. The RGC has issued the Sub-Decree No. 162 dated 22 December 2010 on the Establishment of National Treatment and Rehabilitation Center for addicted people. This Center is under the management of MoSVY.

68. With support from CCJAP and UNODC, the Ministry of Interior and the National Authority to Combat Drugs implement the following programmes:

69. Poverty reduction is the main objective of the RGC as this is an inter-sectoral issue that no one institution is solely responsible. All organizations, governmental institutions as well as NGOs and the civil society contribute to alleviate the poverty according to their respective roles. The Ministry of Planning is the headquarter of the RGC has important roles in monitoring of poverty levels throughout the country. In response to this role, the Ministry of Planning has cooperated with different IOs in the conduct of big scale socio-economic surveys every 3-4 years. The analysis of the results of those surveys has shown that the percentage of Cambodian people living under the poverty line has dropped successively from 36 per cent in 1999 to 34.7 per cent in 2004, to 30 per cent in 2007 (data of the Ministry of Planning) and then to 25.8 per cent in 2010 (National Strategy for Social Support for Poor and Vulnerable People, 2011). Besides this the Ministry of Planning has implemented a programme on poor identification to find out the real poor families in rural areas and to give accurate data on poor families to developmental agencies, donors and services providers as well as governmental institutions and NGOs, especially programmes on social safety nets so as they direct their assistances and services to real poor, helping them to get out of poverty and protect them from different crisis like severe illnesses and bad crop, etc. that make them poorer. These data can also be used to calculate the comparative percentage of poverty level in different provinces, districts/Khan, communes/Sangkat and villages, and then to identify prioritized areas to be developed and assisted that really benefits the poor. The programme on poor identification is now expanding to cover all levels nationwide in 2010-2011. Data on poor family are welcomed and used by different institutions in the Government as well as in NGOs and developmental agencies in the orientation of assistance and services for the poor. The leading institutions in the RGC has used the poverty list of the poor identification programme is the equity fund of the Ministry of Health that is in a leading position to use the data to provide treatment services free-of-charge or at reduced rate in areas covered by the poor identification programme. Other ministries, institutions and organizations in other sectors like social works, education, agriculture, rural development, Red-cross are also using this data in activities such as the provision of scholarship to poor students, the provision of fertilizers, seeds, material and agricultural techniques, water filters, toilets, bicycles for poor students, rice for work, health services and other private institutions. The data on poor families is an important tool for the social safety nets.

Establishment of social safety nets:

70. In the Second Forum on Development Cooperation for Cambodia on 3-4 December 2008, the RGC and development partners have agreed to review the extent of the social safety nets to block the risk of food price instability and economic unrest that affect the living conditions of the poor and vulnerable people. One first step of this work was to do a general analysis on the extent of the existing social safety nets (programmes under the social safety nets), and to determine objectives and strategic choices to establish an integrated and systematic social safety nets that is well adapted to the socio-economic context of Cambodia. This strategy was developed by the Council for the Rehabilitation and Development of Agriculture and Rural Areas of the Council of Ministers, in collaboration with relevant ministries and institutions as well as with IOs. The strategy has collected and pointed out some prioritized activities in the current existing programmes that are characterized as assisting the social safety nets for the assessment of needed budget for 2010-2013, including the importance of poor family identification and the assessment of budget needed to support the poor and vulnerable people. This strategy has been adopted on 18 March 2011.

71. The Strategy on social support to the poor and vulnerable people has 5 major objectives:

- (a) The poor and vulnerable people receive support in food, sanitation, clean water and shelter etc. to meet their needs in case of emergency and at risk;
- (b) The poor and children and mothers at risk benefit from the social safety nets in order to reduce poverty and food insecurity and strengthen human resources development through increased nutrition quality, mothers and children welfare, education enhancement and child labour elimination, especially the worst forms of child labour;
- (c) The poor and vulnerable adults benefit from employment opportunity to ensure that they get an income, food and job as well as can participate in the development of physical resources and sustainable social infrastructure;
- (d) The poor and vulnerable people receive quality and accessible health care as well as the financial support in case they are sick;
- (e) Vulnerable people, especially orphans, elderly, women head of family, disabled, HIV/AIDS affected or TB patients etc. receive assistance in cash, material and psychosocial support as well as other social care.

72. MoSVY has issued the Circular No. 006 on aid programme to people who run out of food, are very poor or victims of natural disaster and hazardous catastrophe. This circular has been changed into a Sub-Decree on “Policy on the Regime for the Disabled, the Poor and Vulnerable People in community”, that is now submitted to the Council of Ministers for approval.

73. For other achievements concerning the reduction of poverty, please see annex 2

74. The rights on property is guaranteed by the Constitution. The ownership regime related to the immovable property are guaranteed and protected by the Land Law that was promulgated by the Royal Decree No. 0801/14 dated 30 August 2001. Article 5 of the Law stipulates that “No one can be deprived of her/his properties, if this is not for the public interest. However, the deprivation shall respect the formalities and procedures set out in the laws and regulations, after paying reasonable and fair indemnity”.

75. The Law on Expropriation has been promulgated by the Royal Decree No. 0210/003 dated 26 February 2010. In addition to the guarantees by the Constitution and the Land Law, the Law on Land Expropriation determines the principles, mechanism and procedures of confiscation and appropriate judicious indemnity in case of property confiscation for the development of public physical infrastructure. Besides above mentioned laws, there are many other regulations covering land property that are adopted to manage, use and distribute lands as well as to establish mechanisms and procedures to regulate the disputes and monitor property abuses.

76. The policy of the RGC is to ensure that all the lands are managed, used and distributed with equity, transparency, effectiveness and sustainability. On all the total territory of around 18.1M hectares, only about 14.5M hectares are under the state management; 3.6M others (around 20 per cent) are private properties. The RGC has given high priority to land tenure safety strengthening for state properties as well as for private properties and that of minority groups through systematic registration and by groups, so as to give land certificates to the general public, institutions and minority group communities who have the rights to possess.

77. As of 2010, 1,664,297 land certificates have been given to the citizens, of which three quarters are in rural areas and one-fourth are in cities and agglomerations. 1,070,665 certificates are registered systematically, 593,645 others are by groups, meaning that 23-24 per cent of private lands are registered.

78. As for the registration of community lands of minority groups in three pilot communities, land identification and limitation have been finished after consultation with relevant persons. Next step is to continue implementing the Sub-Decree No. 83 on “Procedures to register Community Lands of Minority Groups” for communities that are already recognized formally in the nationwide framework, especially the minority groups communities in Mondulkiri and Ratanakiri provinces.

79. The Cadastral Committee has mission to solve the disputes on immovable properties that are not yet registered. Disputes on registered immovable properties shall be solved by the Court. The number of disputes referred to the Cadastral Committee has decreased from year to year by about 20 per cent, and the solutions have increased by almost 56 per cent. By using the procedures of mobile solutions, the disputes that were pending for years were totally solved. As of 2010, on 5,193 cases, the Cadastral Committee at all levels has achieved as follows:

- 1,810 disputes concerning 8,560 families and 3,057.2 hectares were completely solved,

- 272 cases have been withdrawn,
- 1,369 disputes were rejected due to the fact that they are not under its jurisdiction, and
- 1,742 cases are pending.

80. To strengthen the land management, the establishment of policy framework and related legal texts like the Policy on Land Management, the National Policy on Habitation, Circular on the Procedures to solve Temporary Construction in Cities and Agglomerations as well as the Law on Land Management, Urbanization and Construction are under development by an inter-ministerial working group.

81. The RGC has been implementing a policy on land distribution to the poor and families of soldiers who are defending the country on the West and North-West borders, who have no or lack land through a social land concession programme initiated by the national and sub-national levels. The National Development Strategy and the Development Strategy by Sector 2006-2010 have identified 10,000 landless poor families under this programme. The RGC has issued a Circular on the Plan for Distribution of Social Land Concession by requiring that each Capital or province has to find out lands to be distributed to at least 416 families each year. 12 provinces have yet identified 36,917 hectares of lands and 14,791 landless poor families. The provinces that have already distributed the lands are:

- Kompong Cham: 863.65 hectares of land, distributed to 246 poor families;
- Kratie: 3,906 hectares, distributed to 246 families, and is considering distributing to 350 more families;
- Oddar Meanchey: distributed lands that already cleared mine, 129 hectares to 95 poor families;
- Kampot: 10,119 hectares to 317 families of the poor and disabled former soldiers;
- Kampong Cham: 155 hectares, to 100 poor families; and
- Preah Vihear: more than 18,000 hectares, to the families of armed forces and population around the Preah Vihear Temple, on the Western and North-Western borders totalling to 1,802 families through the establishment of new developed villages.

82. The RGC has issued the circular No. 03 dated 31 May 2010 to instruct the local authorities at all levels and relevant institutions on the procedures to solve temporary construction on state lands that were illegally trespassed in the Capital, cities and agglomerations. This circular provides for specific measures for new resettlements such as:

- (a) Exacting data collection of temporary constructions,
- (b) Identification, mapping and classification of locations of the land of the temporary constructions;
- (c) Population census in the temporary constructions;
- (d) Search for solution;
- (e) Coordination discussion to determine the policy;
- (f) Basic infrastructure and public services to support the living, and
- (g) Participation of involved parties.

83. As yet, as the budget is limited there is not yet an assessment on the impact of land tenure insecurity on the family's capacity to care for their children.

Measures taken to reduce school dropout

84. Within the Strategic Plan for Education 2009-2013 there is a strategy on the reduction of grade repetition and drop-out at all levels, and the increase of scholarship to very intelligent students from poor families, especially girls to ensure they can pass to secondary level. To address this strategy MoEYS has been implementing the creation of lower secondary schools in each commune / Sangkat, and higher secondary schools in each district/Khan as needed. In the school year 2010-2011 there are 1,472 communes/Sangkats, which is equal to 90.8 per cent of all the total 1,621 communes/Sangkats, that have a lower secondary school, and 182 districts/Khan (94.3 per cent of the total 193 cities/districts/Khans) that have a higher secondary school. MoEYS is implementing a scholarship programme based on the identification of very intelligent poor students, especially girl students. In this 2010-2011 school year, 46,192 secondary students receive a scholarship, in which 27,265 are girl students. To effectively implement this programme, a policy on scholarship granting is drafted by the Ministry.

85. MoEYS has a school feeding programme (provision of breakfast) to 490,563 students (240,223 girl students) in 1,300 primary schools.

Improvement of quality of education and the pedagogic capacity of teachers:

86. MoEYS has reformed the curricula policy during the period 2005-2009 to 2010-2014 by making compulsory life skills teaching, teaching of foreign languages, namely English and French since grade 4 in primary schools, the option for sciences or social sciences classes for students at grade 11 and 12, and the determination of national standard for grade 3, grade 6, grade 9 and grade 12 to evaluate the capacity and knowledge of the students. In primary schools and lower secondary schools i.e. grade 1 to grade 9, to comply with the article 65 of the Constitution that stipulates that all citizens shall receive at least 9-year compulsory study, the RGC has established and is implementing the policy on child-friendly school focusing on 6 main components: (a) all children are enrolled, (b) education with effectiveness, (c) health safety and child protection, (d) gender responsiveness, (e) participation of students' families and communities, and (f) support from the education system. There are 6,767 primary schools in 2010-2011, in which 3,891 (58 per cent) are child-friendly schools. Compared to 2010, the child-friendly schools are increased by 1 per cent. The child-friendly school is implemented in 424 lower secondary schools, equalling to 36 per cent of the total of 1,172 lower secondary schools. Besides these, MoEYS has organized each year the "very intelligent students" contest nationwide on Khmer literature, mathematics, and physics for grades 9 and 12 and select 10 intelligent students for each major and each grade. MoEYS has also sent students to international contests such as the 11th Olympiad on Physics, the 51st Olympiad on mathematics, the 6th Star Olympiad and the 4th Olympiad on geography. Students were laureates and got prizes and medals in each contest.

Teachers' capacity strengthening

87. MoEYS has developed the standards of teaching profession that comprise 4 components i.e. professional knowledge, professional practices, professional learning and professional morale, and has developed a core plan on teacher development for 2010-2014. To become a teacher everyone shall have to succeed a recruitment process so as to be able to receive training, then to go to the field on practicum. There is a final examination at the end of the training, and then the candidates choose a place of work that they need to fulfil their missions.

88. The capacity of the managers of pre-schools, primary schools and secondary schools are also strengthened. The training curricula of primary and pre-school teachers have been reformed by increasing teaching hours in mathematics, Khmer literature and art education for teachers of pre-schools, and including environment, integrated education and education by researches to the primary school teachers.

Kindergartens

89. MoEYS has developed the National Policy on the Support and Early Childhood Development that was adopted by the RGC in 2010. This policy helped in the strengthening of collaboration among different ministries, institutions and development partners in the improvement of early child education. In the past there was early child education only in state preschools. Following the existence of the policy(strategy) widening the participation of private sector and community at all educational levels, especially the commune/Sangkat councils, early child education has made a good progress these last years. In 2010-2011 there are 2,092 state preschools, 1,766 community preschools, and 256 private preschools. There are in total 4,114 preschools nationwide and 234,429 children aged 0-6 years old are enrolled (117,993 girls).

Rights to education of children who do not speak Khmer

90. The education policy has determined Khmer language as the vehicle language in education in schools. To assist students from minority groups MoEYS has organized bilingual education in preschools as well as in primary education with support from different organizations. This programme is implemented in Stung Treng, Ratanakiri and Mondulakiri provinces, in 27 schools having 2,359 students (1,054 girls) in total. This bilingual education is applied only to grades 1 to 3; from grade 4 onward the education shall be in national language like the other students, as after three years those minority students can read and write perfectly Khmer.

91. Besides the direct capacity building to teachers and the promulgation of the Education Law in 2007, the RGC issued the Sub-Decree on Ethics of the Teaching Profession in 2008. As a result it was noted that teachers' behaviour has been changed and the learning has been improved.

92. Cambodian laws do not consider youth rehabilitation centres as human detention centres. For example, paragraph 5, article 6 of the Prakas No. 470 dated 25 August 2006 on the Conditions and Procedures for Admission, Management and Rehabilitation of Children and the Youth in Youth Rehabilitation Choam Chao requires consent of the child and parents to stay in the centre. The data on children in youth rehabilitation centres under MoSVY in 2009 and 2010 is as follows:

Center's name	2009	2010	Treatment and Rehabilitation	After care	Total

- (e) MoSVY Prakas No. 108 dated 28 February 2007 on the Establishment of the New Life Center Smach Meanchey.

94. The authority responsible in monitoring these centres is MoSVY. The above Prakas and the youth rehabilitation centres' policies are being reviewed by MoSVY for consistency with new laws as well as the draft Law on Drug Control and draft Juvenile Justice Law.

Living conditions of children in youth rehabilitation centres

95. While making effort in the reform of a comprehensive child justice system, the RGC has paid much attention on the provision of services to the emerging problems of children in conflict with the law in need of rehabilitation. Their conditions in the centres have been improved if compared to the past. There are activities concerning sanitation, livelihood, hygiene, vocational training and sports. Civil servants working in the centres were trained successively, and their capacity in working with children in conflict with the law has been strengthened.

96. MoSVY welcomed and received the first discreet visit and observation of the Subcommittee on the Prevention of Torture (SPT) in the Kingdom of Cambodia to the youth rehabilitation centre from 2 to 11 December 2009. MoSVY has appointed a Working Group to investigate and respond to the allegations that many street children and homeless children are frequently detained in those centres. Then in September 2010 MoSVY has collaborated with UNICEF and the United Nations Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights in Cambodia to recruit a consultant to evaluate the policy implementation, management and provision of services to vulnerable children in those youth rehabilitation centres so as to reform the policy and the implementation according to the needs of those children in an effective manner.

97. Beating, torture and ill-treatment are prohibited. Those who committed those acts shall be personally responsible for their acts.

Drug abuse

98. The RGC issued the Sub-Decree No. 162 dated 22 December, 2010 on the Establishment of a National Treatment and Rehabilitation Center for Drugs Addicted-Persons. MoSVY issued the Prakas No. 634 dated 24 March, 2011 on the Organization and the Functioning of the Office under the National Treatment and Rehabilitation Center for Drugs Addicted-Persons. MoSVY will continue developing more procedures and regulations related to the treatment and rehabilitation of drugs addicted-persons in this centre, as well as on the rehabilitation of drugs addicted-persons in general. As of the end of 2010, NACD has been piloting a an Operational Plan for Combating Drugs consisting of four components including community- based treatment in Bantey Meanchey province. The activity report is not available during this reporting period.

112. The draft Law on Juvenile Justice has been revised at last with the considerations of UNICEF recommendations. This draft law has been developed in accordance to international norms, the Criminal Code and the Criminal Procedures Code with inputs from development partners, UNICEF and the civil society. In parallel with the development of this draft law, regulations, forms, checklists and other tools to be used by the police, the lawyers, the prosecutors, the investigating judges, the trial judges, the social workers, the prison officers and other rehabilitation officers are also under preparation. The draft guidelines on dealing with child victims and witnesses in the justice system are being reviewed. The MoSVY and CNCC are conducting research and contemplating the possibility of creating a Law on Child Protection or a Law on Child Welfare. The Ministry of Justice has piloted case registry for minors in one court in the Kingdom of Cambodia, and produced instructional videos for child victims, child witnesses and children in conflict with the law regarding the role of different criminal justice actors.

Reasons of the rise of the number of children placed in detention

113. An Assessment on the Situation of Children in Conflict with the Law in the Kingdom of Cambodia has been just started in March 2011.

114. Concrete measures are taken to ensure that children's rights are respected in all stages on investigation, arrest and detention and that children are not detained together with adults through:
