Written replies by the Government of Latvia* to the list of issues (CAT/C/LVA/Q/2) to be taken up in connection with the consideration of the second periodic report of LATVIA (CAT/C/38/Add.4)

[29 October 2007]

* In accordance with the information transmitted to States parties regarding the processing of their reports, the present document was not formally edited before being edited sent to the United Nations translation services.

Introduction

1. The present document has been prepared by the Government of the Republic of Latvia in response to the request made by the United Nations Committee against Torture and contains the Replies of the Republic of Latvia to the list of issues to be considered during the examination of the Second Periodic Report of Latvia on the Implementation of the 1984 Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment in the Republic of Latvia during the period from November 1, 2003, until April 20, 2005 (CAT/C/38Add.4).

Article 2

Question 1

The State party's Second Periodic Report refers to a new policy concept on execution of criminal sanctions which will define new penal principles. Is this policy concept adopted? Please provide information on the progress achieved to enact a new Law on Execution of Criminal Sanctions based on this policy.

2. Currently, an inter-institutional working group, established under the auspices of the Ministry of Justice, is in the process of drafting new Policy Concept on Execution of Criminal Sanctions, which will update the existing establish new penal principles. The drafting of the new Law on Execution of Criminal Sanctions will commence as soon as the Cabinet of Ministers approves the Policy Concept on Execution of Criminal Sanctions. In addition, in order to facilitate the future drafting of the new Law on Execution of Criminal Sanctions the Ministry of Justice is currently working on several policy concepts concerning re-socialisation, employment, convoy and medical care of imprisoned persons. Relevant details on these documents will be provided in the respective paragraphs below.

With regard to the new Criminal Procedure Law , which entered into force on October 1, 2005, please provide information on the maximum duration of the pre-trial detention and on the measures taken to bring the length of pre-trial detention of juvenile offenders in line with internationally adopted principles as recommended, among others, by the Committee on the Rights of the Child (CRC/C/LVA/CO/2), the Human Rights Committee (CCPR/CO/79/LVA) and the United Nations Working Group on Arbitrary Detention (E/CN.4/2005/6/Add.2). Does the new Criminal Procedure Law introduce any alternatives to pre-trial detention and has the State party taken any measures to promote the use of non custodial sanctions?

3. The information concerning maximum duration of the pre-trial detention and the application of alternative security measure was provided in paragraphs 8-12 of the Replies of the Republic of Latvia to the Questions of the Rapporteur for Follow-up on Conclusions and Recommendations of the United Nations Committee against Torture (document of May 10, 2007).

Please inform the Committee whether the Criminal Procedure Law provides time limits for the period of detention after the sentence of the first instance court in case of appeal?

4. The total duration of the pre-trial detention is established in Article 277 of the Criminal Procedure Law. This Article applies to all cases, when a person is detained on remand. In respect of the specific example, which was given by the Committee, there has been initiated an expert discussion.

What effective measures (legislative, administrative, judicial or other) has the State party taken since its initial report to prevent acts of torture?

5. The Government acknowledges that situation in places of deprivation of liberty is not ideal. Nevertheless, conditions in these places are being gradually and consistently improved. Currently, the material and legal development of technical and legal prison standards and prison infrastructure is one of the priorities of the Ministry of Justice. In 2006, budgetary allocations in the amount of 450,000 LVL¹ were assigned to the project of the new Latvian Prison Hospital. In 2007, the amount of budgetary allocations was increased to 1,120,000 LVL. On July 30, 2007, the Latvian Prison Hospital was finally transferred to the reconstructed and adapted Olaine Tuberculosis Hospital. On August 1, 2007, the former premises of the Latvian Prison Hospital in the Central Prison were officially closed for maintenance. The current situation allows ensuring and providing medical treatment of detainees and convicts in fully adequate conditions.

6. In addition, on April 4, 2007, the Code on Execution of Criminal Sanctions was amended by including new Article 13,¹ which emphasises the criteria of personal security, medical safety and crime prevention, during deployment of convicts in the places of deprivation of liberty. In addition, Article 74 of the Code on Execution of Criminal Sanctions was amended to allow the convicts being in disciplinary cells to maintain correspondence with the state institutions.

Please provide information on the legal-aid system for detained aliens, including access to a lawyer and the right to speak to a lawyer in private.

7. In accordance with Article 56 of the Law On Immigration detained persons shall have the following rights and safeguards (the following provisions shall apply in cases where the person has violated immigration rules):

(a) To contact the consular service of his/her country and to receive legal aid. The detainee must be informed about these rights at the moment of detention;

¹ Fixed exchange rate by the Bank of Latvia is 1 EUR = 0.702804 LVL, <http://www.bank.lv/lat/main/all/>.

(b) To be introduced in person or with the assistance of a representative to materials that are related to his/her detention;

(c) To communicate in a language that the detainee understands or, if necessary, to use interpretation services;

(d) To appeal against decisions of officials in compliance with the procedure laid down by law;

(e) To be transported and be placed separately from persons who are suspected of having committed a criminal offence.

8. Foreigners and/or stateless persons detained in accordance with the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Law, shall have the following rights and safeguards:

(a) To ask for the services of the sworn attorney and the state-guaranteed legal aid, providing that the detainee cannot afford to pay these expenses himself/herself. In this case the payment for the attorney's fees is covered by the national budget in compliance with the procedure prescribed by the Cabinet of Ministers of the Republic of Latvia;

(b) To acquaint himself/herself with the list of available sworn attorneys, as well as to use the telephone in order to contact them free of charge;

(c) To be duly and timely informed about his/her procedural rights and obligations;

(d) To meet with the sworn attorney in private without specific permission and without time constraints;

(e) To contact the diplomatic or consular representation of the country whose national the person is or where the person has his/her permanent residence.

9. In accordance with respective provisions of the Law On the Asylum the asylum seeker shall have the following rights and safeguards:

(a) To receive all information pertaining to the asylum proceedings, including the rights and obligations, in a language that he/she understands or should understand;

(b) To receive legal services, including the right to invite and communicate with persons, providing legal services;

(c) To receive first aid and primary medical assistance free of charge.

10. The Law On State - Guaranteed Free Legal Aid provides that a person concerned shall have the right to be exempted from the payment for legal aid in part or in full, taking into account the person's material situation or other circumstances. The state-guaranteed free legal aid is also provided to the asylum seekers during the appeal proceedings.

Does the State party's domestic law specifically provide that no exceptional circumstances whatsoever, or no order from a superior or a public authority, may be involved as justification of torture?

11. The Government reiterates that Article 34 of the Criminal Law provides that execution of maleficent order or instruction can only be justified providing that the person has not been aware of the maleficent nature of such order or instruction, and the maleficent nature was not clear and obvious. As the torture itself is an intentional act or omission in relation to a person, and its nature thereof is open and clear, a reasonable person should definitely recognise and understand maleficent nature of such order and therefore such case would not fall under Article 34 of the Criminal Law. Since the wording of Article 34 of the Criminal Law mainly presupposes the law enforcement or military officials as possible perpetrators, the Government also refers to Article 13 of the Law on the Police, which precisely defines situations when police officers are allowed to use physical force. In addition, Article 27 of the Law on the Police provides that intentional execution of maleficent order or instruction cannot be used as defence to evade one's responsibility. Similar provisions are included in the Law on the State Border Guard and in the Regulation on the Security Service of the Republic of Latvia. With regard to the prohibition of torture in the places of deprivation of liberty, Article 4 of the Code on Execution of Criminal Sanctions provides that criminal sanctions and penalties shall be imposed with due respect to legal safeguards against torture and cruel, inhuman and degrading treatment, as well as taking into account that it is not the aim of criminal sanctions to cause physical or moral suffering or to expel these persons from the society.

Article 3Question 7

Please provide detailed statistical data since the State party's initial report with respect to the implementation of Article 3 of the Convention in cases of expulsion or return (refoulement) of foreigners, disaggregated by age, gender and country of origin, and indicating in particular:

(a) The number of persons seeking asylum and the number of returnees, including the countries of return;

(b) How is the probable risk of torture assessed in the determination of cases and in the appeal process?

(c) The procedure for the examination of asylum requests submitted at the border and any appeal process, and

Any instances in which diplomatic assurances or the equivalent thereof have been offered to or accepted by the State party, and the procedures for verifying and following up on such assurances.

12. The disaggregated statistical data as to the number of expelled aliens for the period of time from 2000 to 2007 are provided in Annex 1. According to the Asylum Law, persons arriving in the Republic of Latvia and seeking asylum shall submit an application to grant asylum to the State Border Guard at the respective border control check-point. If the person is already in the territory of the Republic of Latvia, the application shall be submitted to the territorial unit of the State Border Guard. All asylum seekers are being registered. The application then is examined by the Refugee Affairs Department of the Office of Citizenship and Migration Affairs of the Ministry of the Interior, which is the first instance in the asylum proceedings. As of July 11, 2006, decisions of the Refugee Affairs Department are subject to an appeal lodged with the District Administrative Court, which decisions are final.

13. Applications to grant asylum, which are submitted at the border control check-points are initially registered and processed by the State Border Guard; these proceedings involve inter alia an interview with the asylum seeker. Afterwards, the State Border Guard transmits the information to the Refugee Affairs Department, which then adopts the respective decision.

14. Upon submission of the application and until the final decision to grant or to refuse asylum has been taken, the asylum seeker has the right to reside in the territory of the Republic of Latvia. The rights and obligations of asylum seekers are provided in the Asylum Law and they are similar for all asylum seekers, irrespective of the applicable type of proceedings.

15. The risk of torture in respect of persons awaiting expulsion is assessed on the basis of the official information available from international institutions. The Refugee Affairs Department mainly uses the reports prepared by the UNHCR, Amnesty International, Human Rights Watch, the US State Department, the UK Home Office and other different sources. There is no priority or hierarchy among these sources.

16. No diplomatic assurances or the equivalent thereof have been offered to or accepted by the Republic of Latvia in respect of either asylum proceedings, or extradition proceedings.

Question 8

Has the State party taken any measures to extend the time limits under the accelerated asylum procedure, in particular for the submission of an appeal? Please comment on the allegations that persons detained under the law applicable to foreigners are often deported without their cases being examined because they are unaware of the need to submit a written asylum application.

17. The information concerning recent amendments in respect of the asylum legislation was provided in paragraphs 6-9 of the Replies of the Republic of Latvia to the Questions of the Rapporteur for Follow-up on Conclusions and Recommendations of the United Nations Committee against Torture (document of May 10, 2007).

18. In respect of the allegations that persons detained under the law applicable to foreigners are often deported without their cases being examined because they are unaware of the need to submit a written asylum application, the Government of Latvia holds the opinion that this statement does not correspond to the truth.

19. Each application is examined in substance in accordance with the relevant provisions of national law. The person concerned is provided with a possibility to submit his/her observations either orally or in writing, as well as to lodge an appeal against the decisions adopted by national authorities. On January 20, 2005, the Asylum Law was amended and the provision requiring the application to be submitted in writing was deleted. The Government reiterates that upon submission of the application and until the final decision to grant or to refuse asylum has been taken, the asylum seeker has the right to reside in the territory of the Republic of Latvia.

Please comment on the information that persons seeking asylum, including persons under the age of 18, have been deported without access to medical care and legal counsel. If so, have there been any unaccompanied asylum-seeking children among the deported persons?

20. During the period of time from 1998 to August 1, 2007, there have been 43 asylum seekers under age of 18, of them only 3 persons were unaccompanied. In order to protect the rights and interests of unaccompanied asylum seeking minor during the asylum proceedings, the national authorities appoint a representative from the Orphan's court. In addition, unaccompanied asylum seeking minor is entitled to receive state guaranteed free legal aid and cannot be detained and placed in the detention facilities of the State Border Guard.

21. With regard to provision of medical care and treatment, in accordance with the Asylum Law every asylum seeker is entitled to receive first aid and primary medical assistance free of charge. If the asylum seeker is staying in the asylum centre „Mucenieki”, the administration will make the necessary arrangements to provide the medical treatment, including even possible hospitalisation.

Article 4

Please provide disaggregated data with respect to persons accused, tried and convicted, including the sanctions imposed, for the crimes of torture, attempts to commit torture, and complicity or participation in torture.

22. During the period of time from January 1, 2006, until August 1, 2007, 2 persons have been found guilty and convicted for committing criminal offences envisaged in Article 125, paragraph 2, subparagraph 4 of the Criminal Law (inflicting intentional serious bodily injury attaining the level of torment or torture); 4 persons have been found guilty and convicted for committing criminal offences envisaged in Article 130, paragraph 3 of the Criminal Law (regularly inflicting intentional light bodily injury with purpose to torture); 1 person has been found guilty and convicted for committing criminal offence envisaged in Article 338, paragraph 3 of the Criminal Law (inflicting intentional serious bodily injury to a military subordinate).

23. During the same period of time, no persons have been convicted of committing criminal offences envisaged in Article 74 (war crimes), Article 126, paragraph 2, subparagraph 2 (inflicting bodily injury that is not dangerous to life, which has attained the level of torment or torture) and Article 340 (battering and torture of a military serviceman) of the Criminal Law.

Has the State party rejected, for any reason, any requests for extradition by another State for an individual suspected of having committed a crime of torture, and thus engaging its own prosecution as a result? If so, please provide the number of requests and rejections, and the outcomes of such prosecutions, including the penalties imposed and penalties actually served.

24. The Republic of Latvia has not rejected requests for extradition to another State an individual suspected of having committed a crime of torture.

Please provide information on domestic legislation establishing universal jurisdiction over the offence of torture, and explain whether such legislation fully complies with the Convention's requirements.

25. In accordance with Article 4, paragraph 4 of the Criminal Law, foreigners and/or stateless persons having no permanent residence permit in the Republic of Latvia, who have committed a criminal offence in the territory of another state, in cases provided for by international agreements binding upon the Republic of Latvia, irrespective of the laws of the state in which the offence has been committed, shall be held liable in accordance with the Criminal Law of the Republic of Latvia. This provision is applicable only in cases where persons concerned have not been already convicted or standing trial in the territory of another state.

With respect to the training activities organised by the Latvian Judicial Training Centre, please provide updated information on the type and content of training conducted in the period 2005-2006 and the number of judges and court staff and other representatives of legal professions (civil and military) that participated in training, disaggregated by level and function. How has the effectiveness of these training activities been evaluated?

26. Judge training programmes are elaborated and developed on a yearly basis by a group of ten experts of the Latvian Judicial Training Centre (hereinafter - the LJTC) with an expertise in the areas of civil, criminal, public international and administrative law. All participants of training courses are divided according to their seniority and working experience (newly appointed judges with working experience less than 1 year; judges having working experience of 1-3 years; 3-6 years; 7-10 years or more than 10 years). Separate training programmes is provided for investigation judges, administrative judges and judges of the Civil and Criminal Divisions of the Regional Courts. The respective curriculum is elaborated on the basis of important and topical legal issues, recommendations of other institutions and the participants' own preferences, which are expressed in questionnaires. In addition, it is possible to organise separate seminars on specific legal issues.

27. Afterwards, the LJTC assesses and summarises results of the training courses by using specific evaluation questionnaires, which are filled in by both participants and lecturers. The questionnaires allow to evaluate the quality of the lectures and seminars. However, the only possibility to evaluate practical value of these courses is later to examine the contents of judgments adopted by the participants. The analysis of already existing judgments is included in the training courses as well.

28. In 2005-2006, inter alia, investigation judges and criminal law judges were given lectures on Article 2 (right to life), Article 3 (prohibition of torture), Article 5 (right to liberty and security), Article 6 (right to a fair trial) of the Convention for the Protection of Fundamental Human Rights and Freedoms, on the case law of the European Court of Human Rights against Latvia, on the extradition of criminals (the standards and practice of the Council of Europe and of the European Union), on the human rights in the criminal proceedings, on the application of human rights principles in judgments of the Latvian courts, on the search methodology when using various Internet databases on human rights and public international law.

29. No specific seminars on prohibition of torture or other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment were held for the judges. Nevertheless, these issues were incorporated in the respective courses related to criminal proceedings, such as, e.g., the inadmissibility of evidences obtained by use of torture. In 2006, human rights issues related to the prohibition of torture were included in the training course for judge assistants.

30. It must be noted that the LJTC is an NGO, which focuses on the legal training of judges and court staff (secretaries, assistants, interpreters). The LJTC does not provide training for judges of the Supreme Court and the Constitutional Court, as well as for the military personnel. In 2006, the LJTC provided courses for sworn notaries. In 2006-2007, the LJTC provided courses for the sworn notaries' assistants and staff members. In September 2007 and in January 2008 the LJTC will provide specific programme for sworn bailiffs. The LJTC also provides seminars on the contract basis - these seminars are attended by civil servants, sworn advocates and sworn advocates' assistants. On the basis of the agreement between the LJTC and the Prosecutor Office of the Republic of Latvia, the LJTC is organising specific topical seminars for the public prosecutors.

Please explain the type and content of any education and training provided to law enforcement officials, medical personnel and other public officials regarding human rights in general and, in particular, the prohibition of torture. How has the effectiveness of any such activities been evaluated? Has there been any specific training with regard to the Manual on the Effective Investigation and Documentation of Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment known as the Istanbul Protocol?

31. In order to improve their professional qualification the personnel of the Imprisonment Facility Management Board (including medical personnel) regularly attend various seminars, including seminars on human rights issues (in 2005, 290 employees of the Imprisonment Facility Management Board participated in various seminars, while in 2006 the number of participants increased to 796). The effectiveness of such events is later evaluated by the Imprisonment Facility Management Board, when conducting in situ examinations in prisons.

32. The employees of the Ministry of Health, including the personnel of psychoneurological hospitals attend various seminars and training courses on medical and legal issues, which often involve human rights perspective as well. Significant support and assistance in this area has been made by the Ombudsman's Office, as well as by such Latvian NGOs as the Latvian Human Rights Centre and the Latvian Centre for Human Rights and Ethnic Studies. To name a few examples, the personnel of psychoneurological hospitals attended seminar for specialised state social care centre personnel on medical treatment and documentation of personal restraints and isolation (on October 26, 2004); seminar on the rights of mentally ill persons in the area of psychiatric care (on April 18, 2006); on human rights in psychiatric hospitals and assessment of the needs of patients (on July 20, 2006). Seminars in 2007 - on treatment of aggressive patients in psychiatric hospital, and on assessment of suicide risks. The evaluation is made by using the questionnaires, as well as in some cases by the following examinations. The employees of the Ministry of Health are not directly informed about the Manual on the Effective Investigation and Documentation of Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment (the Istanbul Protocol), but they are informed about the principles established in the European Convention on Prevention of Torture and Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment.

33. In 2004-2006, the Prosecutor Office in co-operation with the Riga Graduate School of Law organised wide range training courses for the public prosecutors on the European Union law, including human rights issues. The effectiveness was later evaluated during the analysis and assessment of work in different institutions and structural units of the Prosecutor Office of the Republic of Latvia. During the training, the prosecutors were informed about the Manual on the Effective Investigation and Documentation of Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment (the Istanbul Protocol). However, as the Manual has not yet been translated into Latvian, not all of the prosecutors are familiar with its guidelines yet.

34. The employees of the Ministry of Interior and its subordinate structures (e.g. the State Police, the State Border Guard) regularly attend different seminars and training courses in Latvia and abroad. For example, in 2006, 15 officials attended the training course on human rights in the State School of Administration, one official attended training course on human rights, police ethics and combating corruption in Czech Republic, which was hosted by the European Police College (CEPOL). In 2006, one official attended CEPOL training course on human rights, police ethics and combating corruption in France, 11 officials attended seminar on human rights and humanism in the police work and 14 officials attended seminar on human rights and the issues of racism - both these seminars were organised by the State Police College. The State Border Guard officials participated in the seminars concerning issues related to the illegal immigration (for example, from the perspective of the European Convention on Prevention of Torture and Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment and its application in Latvia, which was organised by the Latvian Centre for Human Rights and Ethnic Studies). Another example was the international conference on independent detention monitoring of closed institutions in the Baltic states, which was organised by the Latvian Human Rights Centre. The State Border Guard officials have also participated in several seminars and courses concerning the issues of personal data protection and human trafficking. All employees of the Ministry of Interior and its subordinate structures, whose professional duties involve such issues are informed about the Manual on the Effective Investigation and Documentation of Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment.

35. The employees of the Ministry of Welfare regularly attend different international seminars on human trafficking issues (in Belgium, Denmark, Iceland, Norway etc.).

Article 11

According to the statistics of the Latvian National Human Rights Office in 2005 the number of persons who submitted applications regarding alleged violations of the right to human treatment and respect for human dignity in different kind of institutions, including closed institutions, doubled in 2005. Please provide disaggregated data on the number and types of complaints from prisoners, detainees and other per year for the period for the period from 2005 to 2006 received by the Latvian National Human Rights Office as well as on any follow-up given to them, the outcome, current status, sanctions imposed, and sanctions actually served.

36. In 2005, as compared to 2004, the number of applications lodged with the Latvian National Human Rights Office concerning treatment in places of deprivation of liberty increased rapidly. In 2005, 889 applications were received (574 written applications and 315 oral consultations), in 2006 - 770 applications (522 written applications, 248 oral consultations). This statistical data includes complaints about prisons, short-term detention facilities of the State Police and the State Border Guard, complaints about the State Police, the Municipality Police, security services, social care institutions and centres for illegal immigrants. The main increase in the number of applications concerned penal institutions (remand prisons, prisons, short term detention centres, other places of deprivation of liberty). In the opinion of the Latvian National Human Rights Office, the tendency for increase of applications can be explained by following factors:

(a) Regular visits to penal institutions, which raised the awareness of the detainees and convicts about the Latvian National Human Rights Office as the institution being able to remedy their complaints;

(b) Many issues are solved in situ;

(c) The majority of these applications were of the same type and concerned very minor issues, many of them being rather social than legal issues, such as, for example, the lack of needle and thread in the prison shop, the alleged loss of gloves and socks from prison storehouse etc.

37. In 2005 and 2006, the Latvian National Human Rights Office regularly visited different closed type institutions. In 2005, the Latvian National Human Rights Office conducted 26 visits in prisons, 3 visits in short-term detention facilities, 18 visits in social care institutions, 2 visits in psychoneurological hospitals, 2 visits in centres for illegal immigrants, 4 visits in educational and out-of-family care institutions. In 2006, the Latvian National Human Rights Office conducted 20 visits to prisons, 5 visits to short-term detention facilities, 22 visits to social care institutions, 3 visits to psychoneurological hospitals, 1 visit to centres for illegal immigrants, 1 visit to asylum seeker centre, 9 visits to educational and out-of-family care institutions.

38. During these visits, the Latvian National Human Rights Office experts provided necessary consultations to the local employees about relevant legal provisions and their application. For example, several educational seminars for employees of different institutions were held. In cases where experts found violations, the decisions and recommendations were adopted, the content of which was made known to the visited institution. In cases where it was found necessary, these decisions were forwarded to the superior institution. These decisions and recommendations were based on the applicable domestic law, as well as on the relevant international human rights standards. In cases, where significant human rights violations were found, the Latvian National Human Rights Office informed the law enforcement institutions for eventual criminal proceedings. In the opinion of the Latvian National Human Rights Office, these activities strengthened and developed co-operation between different state institutions.

Please provide information on inter-prisoner violence, including sexual violence and intimidation, as well as data disaggregated by age, sex, nationality, location and type of sentence. What measures and follow-up procedures have been taken to monitor and address this issue, and to protect inmates, particularly female, juvenile and immigrant detainees, against this type of violence?

39. During the period of time from January 1, 2006, to August 1, 2007, there were 27 registered incidents of inter-prisoner violence. No sexual violence incidents have ever been registered. Full disaggregated statistical data on inter-prisoner violence is provided in Annex 2.

40. In accordance with Article 18 of the Code on Execution of Criminal Sanctions juvenile and female convicts are kept separately. The same approach is adopted in respect of juvenile and female detainees as provided by Article 11 of the Law on Procedure of Detention on Remand.

41. In accordance with Article 50⁴ of the Code on Execution of Criminal Sanctions convicts sentenced to life imprisonment shall be kept separately from other prisoners. In addition, in accordance with Article 18 of the Code on Execution of Criminal Sanctions detainees and convicts are held separately from each other, except for in the cases, where convicts are temporarily transferred to remand prisons for investigation measures.

42. Article 13 of the Cabinet of Ministers Regulation No. 423 Internal Rules of Places of Deprivation of Liberty designates specific prison accommodation commissions, which are authorised to accommodate and to distribute convicted prisoners in their prison cells. In pursuing this task the commissions shall take into account health condition, education and psychological compatibility of the convicts, as well the occupancy rate in the cells. Convicted foreigners, as far as possible, are accommodated together in order to ensure and facilitate their mutual communication.

43. Article 11, paragraph 6 of the Law on Procedure of Detention on Remand provides that detainees having no criminal record shall be kept separately from other detainees. When deciding on accommodation of detainees, internal security, psychological compatibility and individual characteristics shall be taken into account.

44. In 2006, in order to reduce possible negative impact posed by recidivist prisoners, the Imprisonment Facility Management Board created in the Jēkabpils Prison special sections for convicts having no previous criminal record. Currently, 393 convicted prisoners having no previous criminal record are being held there, which amounts to 65.4% of the total population of the Jēkabpils Prison.

What measures has the State party taken to establish a comprehensive listing of all places of detention, including places for detention of aliens? What type of institutions is the State party referring to when speaking of „closed type institutions” and „short term detention places”

45. There is no specific separate list of all places of deprivation of liberty, which is adopted at the legislative level. The responsible ministries (Ministry of Justice, Ministry of Interior, Ministry of Defence, Ministry of Health, Ministry of Welfare) have detailed, comprehensive lists of subordinated institutions, which includes, inter alia, all places of deprivation of liberty. The national practice is to submit upon request the up-to-date list to the competent international treaty monitoring mechanisms and/or special procedures prior their in situ visits (for example, the UN Working Group on Arbitrary Detention, the European Committee for the Prevention of Torture and Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment).

46. When speaking of closed type institutions, the Republic of Latvia refers to all types of places of deprivation of liberty, such as prisons, remand prisons, centres for illegal immigrants, armed forces' disciplinary units and institutions providing specific compulsory psychiatric treatment. These institutions are usually not open for public, as well as personal liberty of persons kept in these institutions is restricted to certain extent, namely, persons being kept in these institutions cannot voluntarily leave and must abide to specific regime and regulations.

47. When speaking of short term detention facilities, the Republic of Latvia refers to the establishments under the auspices of the State Police of the Ministry of Interior, where persons are kept immediately after their apprehension pending their transfer to the remand prisons, as well as to the short term detention units of the State Border Guard. This distinction was made for the purpose of convenience and clarity only, as short term detention facilities is one of the categories of closed type institution.

Please provide updated information on the measures taken to and progress achieved to improve the independent monitoring of places of detention, including psychiatric institutions, detention facilities of the Border Guard and the asylum centre „Mucenieki”. Has the State party established new monitoring bodies tasked with inspection of places of detention since the consideration of the State party’s initial report? Are there any independent mechanisms in place to monitor the conditions of detention places for persons under age of 18?

48. In the Republic of Latvia, there is both state-guaranteed and NGO-based monitoring of places of deprivation of liberty.

49. The competent officials of the Ministry of Justice are authorised to examine and audit the places of deprivation of liberty in accordance with Article 11 of the Code on Execution of Criminal Sanctions. This task is mainly carried out by the Legal Department of the Ministry of Justice, which examines prisoners' complaints, as well as complaints from the employees of the Imprisonment Facility Management Board. The Legal Department also performs necessary analysis and conducts in situ examinations in the cases of alleged violations. In addition, the Imprisonment Facility Management Board has drafted internal document The Rules on the Duties of Officials of the Convoy, Monitoring and Security Departments of the Places of Deprivation of Liberty. In addition, the Ministry of Justice is planning to initiate drafting of The Standards of the Places of Deprivation of Liberty, which will be the document binding upon all places of deprivation of liberty. The Standards will also be taken into account when planning and constructing new prisons. These activities should be regarded as self-monitoring and self-control mechanisms.

50. Outside of the framework of the penitentiary system, the independent monitoring is performed by specialised institutions under the auspices of other ministries, such as, for example, the Health Inspectorate (subordinated to the Ministry of Health), which examines adequacy and quality of medical treatment provided in prisons, including the Latvian Prison Hospital, as well as the sanitary issues. In addition, the Ministry of Children and Family Affairs is authorised to monitor the places of deprivation of liberty, where persons under age of 18 years are being kept.

51. Independent monitoring is performed by the Ombudsman Office, which employees are authorised to have full and unhindered access and to visit at any time and without special permit all closed-type institutions. Detailed information on the Ombudsman's Office is provided in paragraphs 71-77 below. However, here it must be specifically noted that upon the results of the in situ visits made by the Ombudsman Office, its employees regularly meet with the representatives of the Ministry of Justice in order to identify, address and remedy topical human rights issues within the penitentiary system.

This database will allow tracking down every detainee and/or convicted prisoner within the penitentiary system, as well as within the probation system.

Question 21

Please provide updated and detailed information on the number of complaints brought against the Internal Security Office of the State Police (ISO SP) in 2005 and 2006 and the outcomes of these complaints. Please provide information on the characteristics and function of the police oversight bodies, in particular with respect of their independence from police authorities. Please provide updated information the progress achieved to collect statistics on disciplinary penalties in respect of employees of the State Police.

60. The statistical data on the disciplinary and criminal proceedings, investigated and examined by the ISO SP, and their respective outcomes are provided in Annex 4.

61. During the period of time from January 1, 2006, to July 1, 2007, the Prosecutor Office of the Republic of Latvia received 7 criminal proceedings for further prosecution from the ISO SP concerning offences committed by the police officials. 6 proceedings concerned the offences envisaged in Article 317, paragraph 2 of the Criminal Law (exceeding official authority if it is associated with violence or threats thereupon), in one case proceedings concerned Article 123, paragraph 2 of the Criminal Law (homicide by negligence).

62. During the following examination, the Prosecutor Office decided to discontinue 3 criminal proceedings. In all these cases it was established that the applicants indeed have suffered minor bodily injuries, nevertheless, they themselves acted aggressively towards the police officers, attempted to use violence and refused to obey legitimate orders. Accordingly, the use of necessary force and special measures in respect of the applicants was found to be justified.

63. After completing the prosecution stage, the Prosecutor Office sent the remaining 4 criminal proceedings to the court. In two criminal proceedings, the adjudication of the merits is still pending. With regard to remaining two criminal proceedings - in one proceedings the Latgale District Court of the City of Rīga found police officer G.I. guilty of committing homicide by negligence and sentenced him to one year of deprivation of liberty with one year period of probation; in the other proceedings the Valka District Court found the police officer R.K. guilty of exceeding his official authority and sentenced him to 6 months of deprivation of liberty with one year period of probation.

Please provide the Committee with data, disaggregated by age, sex, cause of death and nationality or origin, on the number of deaths of persons deprived of their liberty including persons deprived of their liberty in mental hospitals or institutions, registered in 2005-2006, including suicides. Please elaborate how these deaths are investigated and by whom.

64. Disaggregated statistical data on the number of deaths in the prisons, including remand prisons, police short-term detention facilities and the psychoneurological hospitals are provided in Annex 5.

65. In 2003, 11 deaths have been registered in prisons. Of them, 7 suicides, 3 deaths caused by illness, one accident. All these events were subsequently examined and decisions not to initiate criminal proceedings were adopted. In 2004, 14 deaths have been registered in prisons. Of them, 6 suicides, 4 deaths caused by illness, 2 deaths caused by intoxication by narcotic substances. All these events were subsequently examined and in 10 cases the decisions not to initiate criminal proceedings were adopted. In respect of the remaining two cases the criminal proceedings were initiated. In 2005, 18 deaths have been registered in prisons. Of them, 2 suicides, one accident, and 12 deaths caused by illness. In respect of the remaining three cases, the criminal proceedings were initiated. The respective outcomes of these proceedings resulted in the court judgments imposing sentences of deprivation of liberty for a term of 11, 15 and 20 years respectively. In 2006, 10 deaths have been registered in prisons; of them, 4 suicides, 2 deaths caused by the illness and one case of intoxication with narcotic substances. In respect of the remaining three cases, the criminal proceedings were initiated (in two cases investigation is still pending, while in the last case the court imposed deprivation of liberty for a term of 6 years).

66. All suicides in the hospitals, as well as events of death under unclear circumstance are examined and investigated. For this purpose, specific commissions are established, composed of representatives of both medics and administration. Members of commission must not have previously participated in the medical treatment of the respective patient. It must be noted, that there is a significant number of gerontology patients in the psychoneurological hospitals, as well as 25% of the patients have spent several years in the hospitals due to social and economic circumstances - practically, these persons are residing in the hospitals. The events of deaths of such persons, having reached significant age, are generally not subjected to additional examination.

67. In accordance with the recommendations of the European Committee for the Prevention of Torture and Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment, the autopsy is performed only upon written request by the patient's relatives, except in the cases of violent death. In latter cases, the hospital administration informs the Prosecutor Office, which decides upon initiating criminal proceedings and assigning forensic expertise. In many cases, the relatives of deceased persons have explicitly addressed the hospitals asking not to perform anatomical examination. In these cases, their requests are usually satisfied and the cause of death is established on the basis of available clinical data.

In the light of the Concept on the Development of Penitentiaries, adopted on April 19, 2005, please provide updated information on the measures taken and progress achieved to improve prison conditions, including addressing the problem of over-crowding of prisons, since 2005. Please provide up to date information on the number of imprisoned persons and the occupancy rate of the accommodation capacities in 2005 and 2006.

86. In addition, the Ministry of Justice is elaborating an action programme to implement The Basic Policy Guidelines on the Prisoner Education Policy. 89. In 2007 renovation works were accomplished in the following short-term police detention units - the Daugavpils CDPB,² Dobele DPB,³ the Tukuma DPB, the Talsu DPB, the Aizkraukle DPB and the Ludza DPB.

Please also provide information on the average length of the use of physical restraints and isolation in psychiatric hospitals and on guidelines for ensuring that patients in psychiatric hospitals are not subject to long term isolation. Are there mechanisms in place to monitor the use and length of isolation and if so which?

90. The Ministry of Health has drafted amendments to the Medical Treatment Law. In other cases, compulsory treatment may be imposed if a person is unable to care about himself/himself when the medical practitioner ascertains that the person is suffering from mental disorders which might lead to serious deterioration of the person's physical health. The person may be placed in the hospital also on the basis of the court's decision on compulsory treatment (for example, such as the decision adopted in the result of criminal proceedings).

92. In such cases the council of experts-psychiatrists shall examine the person within 72 hours from the person's involuntary hospitalisation, adopt respective decision and inform about its contents the person concerned, family members or closest relatives. If the council has found that the compulsory treatment is necessary, the hospital providing the treatment shall inform within 24 hours the competent judge of the district (city) court. In case of approval, the judge is authorised to extend the compulsory treatment for the period of time up to six months.

93. Mechanical restraint (fixation) shall be applicable only upon indication of the responsible medical practitioner, and the duration shall not exceed 30 minutes, or in extraordinary cases - 2 hours. In the latter case, the patient's physical and somatical condition is being constantly examined. The use of mechanical restraints is an extraordinary measure, which is applicable only in cases of dangerous aggressive or auto-aggressive behaviour, when psychotropic medicine have been ineffective or are not applicable due to possible side-effects.

Please provide information on rehabilitative treatment as well as education provided to mentally ill and intellectually disabled persons under the mental health care in the State party. With regard to the reduction of psychiatric beds in mental hospitals and the inclusion of mentally ill and intellectually disabled persons in society, please provide information on the measures taken and progress achieved to provide these persons with community based services.

94. Rehabilitation treatment is a widespread practice in all psychoneurological hospitals, in fact being one of the unalienable elements of successful psychiatric treatment. The ergotherapy specialists assist their patients to restore or to develop interpersonal communication skills, such as, cooking, daily shopping etc. The next steps include acquiring necessary working skills, as well as providing the employment. In several hospitals specialised workshops for patients have been established or re-established (the Daugavpils Psychoneurological Hospital, the Strenču Psychoneurological Hospital). Also other hospitals offer employment possibilities.

95. Since 2005, Latvia is implementing the EQUAL project, which is financed by the European Union, for re-integration of mentally disabled persons in the society. Within the framework of the project 243 patients have participated by being employed, many of them later finding employment in the society. This project covers the whole territory of the Republic of Latvia and until the end of 2007 there will be held 14 seminars for patients and potential employers. Within this framework recommendations on facilitating the employment of mentally handicapped persons in Latvia have been drafted (the text is available on the Internet - <http://www.sva.lv>).

96. It must be noted that the Ministry of Health has established a new modern ambulatory mental assistance centre in the city of Riga, which conforms with the requirements of modern psychiatry, rehabilitation and social integration.

98. Currently, the Imprisonment Facility Management Board in co-operation with the State Health Agency are analysing and examining existing trends of suicide and autoaggression in prisons. In 2005, guidelines for the prison personnel providing instructions for treatment of persons having tendencies to commit suicide were elaborated and implemented. The representatives of the Imprisonment Facility Management Board also participated in the conference “The suicide issue in Latvia”, which was held by the State Mental Health Agency. In co-operation with the Latvian Centre for Human Rights and Ethnic Studies and the Nordic Council of Ministers, the Imprisonment Facility Management Board organised two seminars on suicide prevention in prisons. There is no intention to elaborate specific state policy paper or action plan on the suicide prevention in the prisons, including the personnel training and statistical analysis.

99. Currently, there are no social rehabilitation facilities/units for prisoners, who have attempted to commit suicide. The necessary treatment is provided by the medical personnel of the respective prison or such persons are hospitalised in the Latvian Prison Hospital.

The respective decision to grant or to refuse asylum refers to adult asylum seekers, as well as to their underage children, while taking into account individual opinion of children, when adopting the above-mentioned decision. The families with their children are accommodated in the centre for asylum seekers "Mucenieki". It is the only established centre for asylum seekers in the Republic of Latvia, which is located 16 km from the capital city of Riga. Its capacity allows to accommodate up to 200 asylum seekers. During their stay in the centre, asylum seekers are provided with daily allowance for food and daily necessities, as well as appropriate living conditions. The possibility to study Latvian language and other activities are provided as well, especially for the children. The centre also has special facilities for handicapped persons.

Please comment on information that the number of allegedly racially motivated crimes has recently increased and that the number of reported hate crimes is underestimated due to the lack of effective hate crime recording and monitoring system.

101. All complaints lodged with police institutions are registered and duly examined. In cases, where the complaint contains information that the offence might be racially motivated (hate crime), such complaint is forwarded to the Security Police, which is authorised to perform pre-trial investigation of racially motivated offences (offences specified by Article 78 of the Criminal Law). The Prosecutor General Office supervises all procedural decisions of the Security Police, as well as it examines all complaints against these decisions. Accordingly, the Government of Latvia believes that statement about the alleged ineffectiveness of recording and monitoring of hate crimes does not correspond to the truth.

102. In addition, the Government of the Republic of Latvia would like to inform the Committee about the relevant statistics in respect of hate crimes. In total, during the period of time between 2000 and 2007, the Security Police initiated 43 criminal proceedings on the basis of Article 78 of the Criminal Law. 8 proceedings were later discontinued, 22 criminal cases were sent to the Prosecutor Office for further prosecution, 5 criminal cases were requalified to other charges and sent to the responsible units of the State Police. The pre-trial investigation is still continuing in 7 criminal cases.

103. In 2005, the Security Police in 17 proceedings decided to refuse to initiate criminal proceedings. 13 criminal proceedings were initiated, of which 3 proceedings were later discontinued; 7 criminal cases were sent to the Prosecutor Office for further prosecution, in the remaining 7 criminal cases the pre-trial investigation is still continuing. Out of 13 initiated proceedings, 12 proceedings concerned the national hatred, the remaining one concerned racial hatred.

104. In 2006, the Security Police in 10 proceedings decided to refuse to initiate criminal proceedings. 14 criminal proceedings were initiated, of which 2 proceedings were later discontinued. 8 criminal cases were sent to the Prosecutor Office for further prosecution, 2 criminal cases were requalified to other charges, in 2 criminal cases the pre-trial investigation still continues. Out of 14 initiated proceedings, 5 proceedings concerned the national hatred, while 9 proceedings concerned racial hatred.

105. In 2007, the Security Police in 5 proceedings decided to refuse to initiate criminal proceedings. 11 criminal proceedings were initiated, of which 1 case was later discontinued. 5 criminal cases were sent to the Prosecutor Office for further prosecution, 3 criminal cases were requalified to other charges, in 2 criminal cases the pre-trial investigation is still continuing. Of 11 initiated proceedings, 7 proceedings concerned the national hatred, while 4 remaining proceedings concerned racial hatred.

106. The available statistical data show that Article 78 of the Criminal Law is not being often applied as under the national law it is a serious crime. In several cases, the criminal proceedings have been initiated on the basis of other Articles of the Criminal Law, such as inflicting light bodily injuries, hooliganism, offences against person's dignity and honour. It must be noted that on October 12, 2006, Article 48 of the Criminal Law has been amended, now providing that committing any type of offence with racial motivation is one of the aggravating circumstances for criminal liability. On June 21, 2007, Article 78, paragraph 2 of the Criminal Law was amended, thus now penalising incitement of racial hatred and hate speech on the Internet.

Please provide information on the State party's anti-discrimination legislation and describe measures taken to combat discrimination. Information before the Committee indicates that the Latvian authorities have repeatedly failed to protect the rights of the lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender community in the context of the Gay Pride marches in 2006 and 2006, including that the Latvian politicians have made homophobic remarks and statements in the context of the first Gay Pride march in 2005 and that the participants of these two marches have been attacked despite the requested police protection. Please inform the Committee of measures taken to review police protection in this regard and to ensure that similar incidents do not occur in the future.

107. The institution authorised to combat discrimination and facilitate tolerance in the Republic of Latvia is the Secretariat of the Special Assignment Minister on the Society Integration Affairs. The Secretariat is specifically tasked to implement in the Republic of Latvia the Council Directive 2000/43/EC of June 29, 2000, Implementing the Principle of Equal Treatment between Persons Irrespective of Racial or Ethnic Origin.

108. To facilitate this task, in 2006 and 2007 following legal acts have been respectively amended - the Law on the State Civil Service (amended on November 2, 2006), the Law on the Societies and Foundations (amended on November 2, 2006), the Code of Administrative Offences (amended on May 17, 2007), the Criminal Law (amended on June 21, 2007). Also amendments to the Civil Law, the Law on the Consumer Protection, the Law on the Patients' Rights have been drafted and presently pending before the Saeima. In general, these amendments prohibit discrimination in the area of public and private sales of goods and/or services.

109. Currently, many national human rights experts, state officials, the Ombudsman Office, as well as the representatives from different religious denominations are working on the development of the National Programme to Facilitate Tolerance. This programme aims to expand the scope and area of sensitive issues, as well as to address the Latvian society, including politicians. Many Latvian politicians took active part during the discussions in the conference For and Against Tolerance, which took place in April 2007. The Secretariat aims to actively continue to raise the awareness in the society, to educate and include the society, as well as to facilitate the politics on tolerance. In this regard the Secretariat has issued invitations for research papers from distinguished researchers from the University of Latvia. These papers are available online (<http://www.integracija.gov.lv>).

110. In order to ensure safety during the Friendship Days from May 31, 2007, to June 3, 2007, which included, inter alia, the Gay Pride March 2007, the State Police developed specific plan of action to ensure public safety on the basis of the previous years' experience. These measures included gathering of information on the number of participants, estimating and identifying possible remonstrants and their counter-activities. By using the preventive methods, the State Police officials met with representatives of both sides, as well as the place of event was fenced off in order to exclude all possible physical contacts. All these measures proved right as there were no clashes or conflicts during the event. As the place for the event was designated one of the parks in the capital city, which is one of the central spots in the city.

111. It must also be mentioned here that as of 15 December 2005 the Latvian National Human Rights Office established the Discrimination Prevention Department, as the Office has been chosen as the national institution for the promotion of tolerance pursuant to the Council Directive 2000/43/EC. The Discrimination Prevention Department, as an administrative unit, has been kept by the Ombudsman Office following the takeover of functions.

Please provide information on the measures taken to implement the State Programme to Prevent Human Trafficking 2004-2008 (2004), including the adoption of any new laws to prevent trafficking in persons, the development of social rehabilitation services for victims of human trafficking and the training of professionals to work with victims of trafficking.

112. At present, the legislation of the Republic of Latvia as regards the combat against human trafficking has become very progressive and might serve as an example for other countries. The legislation defines all most important aspects as to the suppression of trafficking in people, as well as a criminal penalty mechanism, which would prevent persons from committing potential crimes, has been developed. Since restoration of its independence, Latvia has assumed the international obligations in relation to the combat against trafficking in persons, ratifying the Palermo Convention and the UN Convention on Suppression of Trafficking in Persons, as well as participating in the EU activities in this area.

113. In 2004, the legal regulation that allows classifying crimes committed in the territory of Latvia that conform to the international definition of human trafficking (amendments to Article 154¹ "Human Trafficking" of the Criminal Law) was adopted. Furthermore, the legal regulation was adopted pursuant to which aliens and stateless persons who do not have permanent residence permits in the Republic of Latvia and who have committed especially serious crimes in the territory of another state which have been directed against the Republic of Latvia or against the interests of its inhabitants, shall be held criminally liable in accordance with the Criminal Law (amendments to Article 4, paragraph 3 of the Criminal Law). The time of imprisonment for sending a person for sexual exploitation has been increased to 5 years, thus making it a serious crime, in which case victims, witnesses, suspects, defendants, persons on trial, sentenced persons thereof have the right to special procedural protection (amendments to Article 165,¹ paragraph 1 of the Criminal Law). The legislation is being improved continuously. Amendments to the Criminal Law have been prepared and forwarded to the Saeima in order to supplement it with new definitions of crimes in order to stipulate criminal liability for the following violations: maintenance, management or intended financing of a brothel, or participation in the financing of a brothel; and intended rent of a building or other premises or part thereof for prostitution.

114. Following the amendments to the Criminal Law in 2000, the number of underage persons involved in prostitution and number of underage persons sent abroad for human trafficking has decreased. In 2005, no children trafficking cases in Latvia and no cases of children being sent abroad for sexual exploitation were registered.

115. On March 3, 2004 the State Programme for Elimination of Trafficking in Human Beings (2004-2008) was adopted by the Cabinet of Ministers. The Ministry of Welfare is one of the ministries responsible for implementation of the program. The Ministry of Welfare is responsible for implementation of activities included in the section Support services for victims of human trafficking (rehabilitation) aimed at ensuring inclusion of victims of human trafficking into society by providing co-ordinated inter-institutional social support services. In order to achieve this aim, on June 17, 2004 amendments were adopted to the Law on Social Services and Social Assistance introducing provision that “the State shall ensure the social rehabilitation of victims of the traffic in human beings”. Another aim of the State Programme Against Human Trafficking for 2004-2008 is to facilitate implementation of Article 20 of the Law on Protection of the Rights of the Child, which require that cases concerning the alleged abuse of children’s rights should be examined by specially trained specialists. The Programme foresees an increase in the number of the staff in the Inspection of Juvenile Affairs of the State Police to reach 164 staff members. In 2004, 180,072 LVL were allocated from the state budget to implement this Program. In 2005, the total amount allocated was less that actually needed. According to the Law on the 2005 State Budget to facilitate development of Inspection of Juvenile Affairs of the State Police the amount of 8,784 LVL was allocated for additional 2 staff posts.

116. The Resource Centre for Women “Marta”, is one of the institutions rendering the support for victims within the framework of various projects. Between end of 2003 and May 2005, the Centre has provided social rehabilitation to 26 persons. As of 2006, the Centre is providing state-financed social rehabilitation for victims of trafficking. In January-September 2006 four persons have used the opportunity to receive state-financed social rehabilitation for victims of trafficking, while the available state budget for this purpose was enough to pay for the rehabilitation of 14 persons. At the same time, 15 persons received rehabilitation services available from other resources. In accordance with the estimations of the Ministry of Welfare, 30 persons will be able to receive state-financed social rehabilitation services in 2007.

117. The Government of the Republic of Latvia would also like to draw the Committee's attention to the Internet resource page which is hosted by the Ministry of Interior, which provides most essential and up-to-date information in Latvian, Russian and English languages on the State's activities on combating human trafficking - <http://www.cilvektirdznieciba.lv/index.php>.

Please comment on reports that women who have experienced violence are not provided with means of redress and protection and that impunity of perpetrators of domestic violence is widespread. Please provide information on legislative and other measures that the State party has taken to prevent domestic violence and to classify acts of domestic violence as specific offences under criminal law. Please provide statistical data on complaints, prosecution and sentences in matters of domestic violence. Please also inform the Committee of any measures taken to support or provide redress to women who have experienced domestic violence.

118. Currently, domestic violence is not specifically defined in the legal acts of the Republic of Latvia. Neither it is intended to include such specific offence in the Criminal Law. It must be noted that the domestic violence does not include exclusively violence against women - it may include the violence against children on behalf of their parents as well. Information about domestic violence incidents is spread among the State Police, Municipalities' Police, Orphans' Courts and social care institutions. There is no state-wide statistics on the domestic violence. Article 7, paragraph 3 of the Criminal Procedure Law makes reference to Article 130 of the Criminal Law (inflicting of minor bodily injuries), stating that the latter offence, if committed in the context of domestic violence, falls within the ambit of public prosecution proceedings, which are carried out by the prosecutor. Proceedings shall be initiated upon receiving an application from a victim and proceedings cannot be terminated as a result of a friendly settlement (Article 377, paragraph 1, subparagraph 9 of the Criminal Procedure Law). In addition, Article 172² of the Code of Administrative Offences envisages administrative liability for physical and emotional violence against a child.

119. The necessity to provide support and redress for women, who have experienced domestic violence, has been addressed at the executive level. In accordance with the Resolution by the President of Ministers of May 3, 2007, the Ministry of Children and Family Affairs drafted the informative report on the issues of domestic violence. Currently, on the basis of the above-mentioned report, the Ministry of Children and Family Affairs in co-operation with the Ministry of Welfare, the Ministry of Justice, the Ministry of the Interior, the Ministry of Health, the Ombudsman's Office and the Prosecutor General Office is drafting the concept paper on combating the domestic violence, which shall be submitted to the Cabinet of Ministers by February 1, 2008. In addition, on April 26, 2007, the Ministry of Welfare announced the draft Programme on the Gender Equality for 2007-2010, which names raising the awareness of the issue of domestic violence as one of the six priority actions. The Ministry of Justice intends to elaborate action plan to protect the society from the sexual criminal offences and offences against gender integrity, which will include specific measures aimed to identify and to combat domestic violence.

If so, does the State party envisage establishing a new national mechanism or designating the existing mechanism that would conduct periodic visits to places of deprivation of liberty in order to prevent torture or other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment of punishment?

121. In this regard, the Government reiterates its position expressed in paragraph 108 of the Second Periodic Report, namely, that the ratification of the Optional Protocol might take place within next 5 years. The Government reaffirms that this issue will depend on the progress achieved at the national level.

Please indicate whether there is legislation in the State party aimed at preventing and prohibiting the production, trade, export and use of equipment specifically designed to inflict torture or other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment. If so, please provide information about its content and implementation. If not, please provide whether the adoption of such legislation is being considered.

In addition to specifying the scope of Article 88 "Terrorism", the inclusion of several additional articles in the Criminal Law - Article 88¹ "Financing of Terrorism", Article 88² "Public Incitement to Commit Terrorist Acts", Article 88³ "Recruitment and Training for Terrorism" is planned. Currently, these draft amendments are pending their final approval by the Saeima.
